CIVIC ASSOCIATION NEWS & NOTES

Notes from the President By Lisa Patterson-Troike

Rescuing a Barred Owl

Driving east during morning rush hour at 8 am on Darnestown Road, Thursday, March 16th, I noticed what looked like an owl sitting upright by the side of the road near Jones Lane. After performing an illegal U-turn under the power lines, I drove back to check on the feathered creature. Sure enough, it was an owl and it was injured. I picked him up, put him in the SUV and called my husband, Rob. "Look for the closest owl rescue center ASAP", I exclaimed. I arrived home a few minutes later and Rob had found Owl Moon Raptor Center just down the road at 20201 Bucklodge Road in Boyds.

Ten minutes later, I was at the home of Suzanne Shoemaker who is a licensed Master Wildlife Rehabilitator (MD and USFWS), licensed Falconer (MD and USFWS), and current President of the Maryland Wildlife Rehabilitators Association. Suzanne is trained/educated as an Animal Scientist, Wildlife Biologist and Wildlife Rehabilitator. She went right to work on LP (we used my initials to name the owl) and administered medicine to stop any swelling. Next, she checked his eyes and wing mobility. Blood stains were around one beak nostril and we assumed it was a car strike. She told me he was a young male Barred Owl who was probably hunting for food to give his nesting young. I was told LP had a 50/50 chance of survival and to check back on his progress. After a few weeks, it was evident that LP had not struck a car but was electrocuted, possibly from landing on a transformer.

Suzanne Shoemaker and LP

As I write this, it's been seven weeks and LP is still not out of the woods. If he is not able to be released back into the wild because of his injuries, Suzanne plans to place him at a Cunningham Falls Aviary in Thurmont, MD or another wildlife center.

A licensed non-profit organization, Owl Moon Raptor Center (OMRC) was founded in 2002 and is a state and federally licensed wildlife rehabilitation center specializing in birds of prey. The center cooperates with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Wildlife & Heritage Services, and local animal agencies. The goal of OMRC is to rehabilitate raptors back into the wild whenever possible and is always in need of donations, cages, towels and other supplies. Please visit owlmoon.org to learn how you can donate, volunteer, educate children/adults and more.

In Historically Black Tobytown, a 'dilapidated' Eternal Resting Place

By Bill Turque - March 7, 2017 Washington Post

James Martin, 59, has lived all his life in Tobytown, a black enclave in Montgomery County, Md. He wanders the Tobytown cemetery looking for grave markers. In the foreground is one of the few easily found gravestones.

The patch of ground hardly looks like a graveyard. Only a handful of unmarked stones break through the shroud of weeds, branches and thorn bushes that cover the fenced-off site, a few feet from the traffic on River Road in Potomac, Md.

But this is the spot where residents of Tobytown, a small enclave founded by freed slaves and now tucked into one of the nation's most moneyed Zip codes, were laid to rest starting in the 1870s and continuing, by some accounts, through the 1950s. Upkeep of the cemetery is the responsibility of Montgomery County's public housing agency, the Housing Opportunities Commission, which handles maintenance and capital improvements at the 26home neighborhood about 10 miles northwest of Washington.

But residents say it's been years since they've seen anyone from the county put a rake or a scythe to the cemetery site. Most graves are marked with flat slabs or rocks with no inscriptions, and they can't easily be seen because of overgrown vegetation and leaves.

The neglect adds to a sense of isolation that many Tobytown residents say they experience in Montgomery County, the state's largest jurisdiction and among its wealthiest. It was just last year that the community got its first county bus service, after three decades of being told by officials that there were not enough residents in need of public transportation to justify the expense.

The Rev. Melvin Martin says, "The graveyard is a major concern. It looks bad now, trees and things," said the Rev. Melvin Martin, 75, who, like virtually everyone in Tobytown, traces his roots back to one of the families that founded the community in 1875. "A lot of things were done wrong."

Martin said he thinks his brother, Raymond, who died in infancy when Martin was about 8 years old, may be interred somewhere on the site. He would have been among the last people buried there.

A survey on file at the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission says there are between 20 and 30 graves at the cemetery.

But beyond the chain-link fence that encloses an area about 50 yards long and 25 yards wide, Martin and his neighbors point out other half-buried stones that mark what they think are gravesites.

Although the circumstances are quite different, resentment over the county's abandonment of the graveyard carries echoes of a dispute several miles east on River Road at Westbard, where members of Macedonia Baptist Church are fighting with Montgomery officials over how best to investigate and commemorate an African American cemetery that probably lies in back of an apartment high-rise. The unkempt condition of Tobytown's cemetery got the attention of the Montgomery County Council in February, when the neighborhood was featured at the council's annual commemoration of Black History Month. A short video included resident James Wilson leading a tour of the disheveled site. "You're walking on graves now. They just don't have stones," Wilson says.

At the base of a tree are two of the few gravestones that can be easily found at the Tobytown cemetery. The graves were usually marked with flat slabs or rocks with no inscriptions. Because of the ground cover, it's hard to locate them.

After watching the video, Council President Roger Berliner (D-Potomac-Bethesda) expressed his unhappiness about the "dilapidated" state of the graveyard.

"It was shocking; it was not respectful and not okay," Berliner said in an interview. He wrote a Feb. 23 letter about the situation to the housing agency's executive director, Stacy Spann, asking her to "promptly restore the community's cemetery to a dignified state and develop a plan for its on-going maintenance."

In an interview, a senior housing agency official acknowledged the agency's responsibility for the graveyard and said it had been neglected simply because no one — including residents — had sought to make it a priority until now.

The graveyard "hasn't come up in our conversations about improvements they want to make," said Shauna Sorrells, director of legislative and public affairs for the agency.

Sorrells said that given the recent attention from Berliner, the cemetery will be restored and rededicated by the end of the year, "and probably before that."

The gravesites are perhaps the last direct link to the past for the enclave, which is named for Tobias Martin, one of its earliest residents. For decades, those who lived here worked on nearby farms and raised their own food and livestock. But by the 1960s, the region's rural economy was becoming a thing of the past. As suburbia burgeoned and mansions sprouted on what was once agricultural land, Tobytown remained a pocket of tar-paper shanties with a single outhouse. In 1972, the housing authority bought the land and built the 26 homes that stand today. The goal was for residents to eventually purchase their homes under a federal Housing and Urban Development program, and 19 of the families have done so.

Housing officials said the absence of a homeowners' association has hindered Tobytown's ability to act collectively on projects such as the cemetery. Martin and other residents say there is long-standing friction between some of the founding families, which also has limited collaboration and joint advocacy.

"They're all against each other," said Benny Chambers, 53, who is Martin's half-brother. "They'll take that to the grave."

But Chambers added that if the county brought the tools and began work on the cemetery, "I would volunteer to help."

Berliner said the lack of a homeowners' association is beside the point. He wants action right away from the housing agency.

"Any response short of 'We will take care of it' is disappointing," he said.

James Martin, 59, has lived in Tobytown all his life and has relatives buried in the cemetery whose graves he cannot find.

DCA's 28th Softball Season! By Dave Bivans, Seneca-Highlanders-Berryville

The 28th season of DCA adult co-ed recreational softball season finally kicked off on April 30th due to the original Opening Day of April 23rd being rained out. The first game featured 2016 champion Ancient Rollin Mountain Quails (ARMQ) taking on last year cellar dwellers Seneca Highlands Berryville (SHB). ARMQ had a good start scoring 2 runs in the top of the first, but SHB came back uncharacteristically strong, scoring 6, and then 8 more in the bottom of the third. The final score of 17-8 saw SHB win their first game in a year.

Western Darnestown (WD) took on Bondy Haddonfield Ridgefield (BHR) in a pitchers' duel for game 2. WD pulled ahead in the first with two runs, with BHR gaining one back in the bottom of the inning. WD and BHR both scored a run here and there to end up with the score tied 5-5 at the end of the sixth inning. WD was shutout in the top of the seventh, and with the sun close to setting, BHR put men on all the bases and then scored the winning run with a line drive hit in shallow left.

By the time we report again in the Little Acorn, the 2017 season will be nearly over, with play scheduled through August 6th. If you want to see how we're doing, come on out to our own Darnestown Local Park, most any Sunday evening from 5-8pm to pick up your free ticket to one of the games; or, to join in the line-up with your neighbors and friends! If you have any questions, please give me a call (301-977shoot 4734) or me an e-mail (dnlbivans34@verizon.net). We're looking forward to a great summer, and season!

Sydney crushing it on the LAX field!

We don't need to tell you that living on the edge of Montgomery County's 93,000 acre Agricultural Reserve is really something special - the front row view for the changing seasons, abundant wildlife and recreation opportunities at your doorstep, along with the connection to local farms and food. Darnestown residents are familiar with the Ag Reserve but you'd be surprised how many Montgomery County residents have never heard of the nation's most successful farmland protection effort just minutes away.

Montgomery Countryside Alliance is the organization born of and for the Ag Reserve to promote and protect Montgomery County's crown jewel.

In Maryland, each year 20,000 acres of farmland are lost – and lost forever – to development. We rely on the support of local Montgomery County residents to help protect farms and open space here on Metro's Edge.

We support local farmers and grow their ranks with our Land Link program (MocoLandLink.org) – connecting new and expanding farmers with local landowners offering long term leases. We educate local students at all levels on the importance of farms. We keep farmland in farming through advocacy at both the local and state level and connect local folks with local food. Since 2001 we have been proactively protecting open space, farms and the local water supply for future generations.

Of course we find time to celebrate the Reserve as well. We would like to personally invite Darnestown residents to one of our annual events. Whether you bring the family to grab a wood fired pizza and see Jokgu the chicken play the piano at our Field and Fiddle Festival or bike the Reserve's rustic roads for our cause in the Ride for the Reserve this fall- there is something for everyone to enjoy.

Please visit our website for these and other events. Our 2017 work plan is ambitious but achievable with your support – please consider becoming an annual member. Warm Regards, Caroline Taylor, Executive Director

Local Mormon Youth Participate in Good Deeds Day

By RoseMarie Briggs

Youth from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (LDS) in the Kentlands ran a "Jeans for Teens" clothing drive for Good Deeds Day, an annual, international celebration of "Doing Good!" April 2nd was the official Good Deeds Day, but service projects were not limited to that day. The LDS youth chose to do their project on a Wednesday evening when they have their weekly activity and chose a service project to make the lives of teens better. Among the several project ideas listed on the Good Deeds Day website was a "Jeans for Teens" clothing drive. It states that "over a million young people experience homelessness in the United States every year. One item they often request? A pair of jeans." LDS youth leader, Heather Cooke of Darnestown, was thrilled with how much clothing the youth donated and delivered about 10 bags of jeans and other clothing to the Interfaith Clothing Center (Interfaith Works) in Rockville. Mrs. Cooke said, "I loved the feeling inside the Interfaith Clothing Center and loved seeing the gratitude these individuals expressed for our donation." According to census data posted on Interfaith Works' website 1,100 people in Montgomery County are homeless on any given day, including 318 children. Between 2005 and 2015, childhood poverty in Montgomery County has more than doubled to 9.7 percent.

The Good Deeds Day website states that it "celebrates the value and importance of giving back to the community. It puts into practice the simple idea that every single person can have a positive impact on the lives of others and change the world. Businesswoman and philanthropist, Shari Arison conceptualized the idea for Good Deeds Day and in 2007 launched, through Ruach Tova ("Good Spirit" in Hebrew), the leading organization in the field of volunteering in Israel." Ruach Tova matches volunteers with organizations. An estimated half a million volunteers from Israel and 61 other countries participate in Good Deeds Day. Locally, Good Deeds Day is sponsored by the Greater Washington Jewish Federation and, according to its website, over 8,000 community members make a difference.

IN A NUTSHELL

Good Deeds Day is a global day that unites people from 93 countries to do good deeds for the benefit of others and the planet.

All over the world, hundreds of thousands choose to volunteer and help others, putting into practice the simple idea that every single person can do something good, be it large or small, to improve the lives of others and positively change the world.

Girl Scout Troop 6194

By Annie Kelly

Hello, my name is Annie Kelly, I am a sophomore at the Stone Ridge School of the Sacred Heart, and I am a Girl Scout Senior in Troop 6194. I started in Troop 6194 as kindergartener while attending Mary of Nazareth Catholic School. In conjunction with my involvement within my Troop, I also serve as a Teen Scout on the Girl Scout Council of the Nation's Capital.

This one-year board position has allowed me the opportunity to gain a better understanding of how a non-profit organization impacts communities and helps girls. There is so much more to Girl Scouts than just our cookies, and through this experience I gained an understanding of GSCNC financial matters, the responsibilities of land ownership and maintenance, overhead costs on the payroll, encouraging volunteers, just to name a few....

Girl Scouts turns 110 years old in September 2017! As girls' roles in society have changed, so has the role of Girl Scouts within our community. This changing role was evident at the recent 2017 GSCNC Annual Meeting last month. The Council's next order of business is renovating the image of the girl leader. Using the catchy acronym G.I.R.L., they redefined what the Girl Scout means in the modern world and how every girl can make an impact. So what is a G.I.R.L.?

Go-getter, Innovator, Risk taker, and Leader.

Some examples of how GSCNC is changing include: their recent partnerships with public and private sector focus on S.T.E.M. opportunities for girls; challenging girls with new outdoor activities installed at their different summer camps; and maintaining excellent working relationships with many US Government agencies, museums, and historical sites, giving girls in our area have a DC opportunity to learn and get involved locally. Finally, GSCNC actively encourages girls and troop adventures both locally as well as globally for older girls. Girl Scouts is dedicated to providing all girls with an outlet that allows them to explore their interests while educating the scouts on their role and need to participate and contribute to the community and the world around them. Girl Scouts as an organization is very appreciative of the dedication of time and resources provided by our parents and dedicated Scout Leaders.

The Girl Scout Council of the Nation's Capital is the largest Council in the Girl Scout system in the Americas touching over 65,000 girls in DC, MD, VA, and WV.

As for me, Girl Scouts has been a lot of fun. I'm happy I'm staying with it, maintaining my friendships, and achieving many awards and accomplishments along the way. It's an opportunity where the possibilities are endless, so I have to say I would encourage any young girl to find a Troop and give it a try!

Peace out from this Girl Scout 😊

GUARDIANS OF THE GALAXY VOL. 2

"Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 2" is a 138-minute PG-13 Rated Science Fiction/Superhero film directed by James Gunn starring Chris Pratt (Peter Quill/Star-Lord), Zoe Saldana (Gomora), Dave Bautista (Drax), Vin Diesel (voice of Baby Groot), Michael Rookery (Yondu), Sean Gunn (Karolin), Bradley Cooper (voice of Rocket), Karen Gillam (Nebula), Sylvester Stallone (Stoker Gourd), Pomp Demientieff (Mantis), Chris Sullivan (Taserface) and Kurt Russell (Ego).

This superhero film is based on the Marvel Comics Guardians of the Galaxy team and is a sequel to 2014 "Guardians of the Galaxy". It is the 15th film in the Marvel Cinematic Universe. The movie begins in 1980 with a cryptic scene in the middle of rural Missouri and quickly fast- forwards 34 years later where we are reintroduced to the five Guardians of the Galaxy. They continue to protect the cosmos from malevolent creatures as Peter Quill becomes committed to solving the mystery of his father's identity.

The original "Guardians of the Galaxy" is my favorite superhero film of all time and only one of two movies which received a perfect 10 from me in 2014. I could not wait for this sequel and was not disappointed, seeing it in standard 2D. From one of the earliest scenes featuring baby Groot dancing to the Electric Light Orchestra's classic 1977 hit, "Mr. Blue Sky", to the closing credits, I was hooked. The movie has the same great ensemble cast, all of whom deliver passionate performances. I especially like the role and acting of Michael Rookery as Yondu. There is excellent character development and great romantic, friendship and family chemistry. The story line incorporates the original plot in an effective yet fresh way.

I think this film is funnier than the original, especially the interaction between Racoon and Taserface and one hilarious scene involving Racoon and baby Groot which was featured in the previews. (I had seen it at least ten times but still laughed out-loud, again, in the theater).

Dave Bautista delivers some of the funniest and most meaningful lines. His interaction with the new character, Mantis, is a highlight of the movie. Baby Groot is the most adorable creature ever depicted on the big-screen.

"Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 2" has a script which is not just funny and exciting but also emotionally moving, dealing with love, family, abandonment, loyalty and friendship. The special effects are phenomenal and the soundtrack, appropriately named "Awesome Mixtape #2" is, quite simply, awesome. It includes hits from Cheap Trick, Fleetwood Mack, Jay & the Americans, Sam Cooke, George Harrison, Cat Stevens and others. My only minor criticism is that the film is too long and the final 20 minutes' battle scene is drawn-out. It could have easily been streamlined to a two-hour running time.

Even if you did not see the original, I think you will enjoy this movie if you like this genre. Fans of the franchise will probably be ecstatic over this sequel which I predict will be a huge block-buster hit. Stay for several extra scenes during the closing credits which confirm that Vol. 3 is already in the works. I simply cannot wait. I give "Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 2" a 9.5 on the ABBONDANZOMETER (Scale of 1-10).

A New Author in our Midst

By Mary Ellen York

Darnestown has a new author! Mary Ellen York of Ancient Oak is the co-author of 28 Years to Nowhere: An Inspirational Tragedy by Larry Nichols and Mary Ellen. She helped Larry tell his story. With the truth of the insider who lived this journey, this book describes the destruction of many powerful people and the impeachment of a president. Larry honestly describes his inner struggle and the price he paid as he spent nearly half his life committed to protecting our country from what he calls "a fate worse than death!" Larry lights the pathway to secure the future of the greatest nation on earth with proof of the POWER OF ONE ordinary person to make a difference. This book is a piece of history with a tale of intrigue through the minefields of the Clinton scandals and the effort to obstruct their powerful goals and expose their crimes.

The first half of the book describes Larry's incredible story, including how it began. Then there is a chapter on the toll this fight took on him and his family. Larry spends two chapters describing how he informed a small group on the tricks of rigged elections plus how he motivated efforts that effected election results. He came to the end of himself when his planned strategies led nowhere. He also describes the enemies still facing us and encourages readers to get in the fight to save the country from the attempts to do away with our representative republic. The book ends with a list of Larry's heroes and three friends who describe Larry's impact on their lives.

Here are comments from people who have read the book: "I'm on the edge of my seat! I can't turn the pages fast enough." Vicki L.

"Larry has fought the fight for good against pure evil. He is the only one who would do it. Now it's like you're sitting down and talking with him." Pat Y.

The book may be available on Amazon by the time The Little Acorn is printed. Otherwise, it can be ordered at www.28yearstonowhere.com for $19.95 plus shipping.

School News & Events

Darnestown Elementary

By Sandy Pearce

It's hard to believe another school year has come to an end. Our Kindergarteners survived their first year of elementary school, while our 5th graders are starting a new journey onto Middle School. This is a bittersweet time for parents, especially me, since one of those 5th graders is mine! Sweet memories were had this past spring with exciting field trips to Mt. Vernon and to the Montgomery County Fairgrounds for the Patrol Picnic. The 5th graders all rode together on a charter bus down to Mt. Vernon and spent the entire day there. The Patrol Picnic was a blast with fun rides and other festivities. Please join us on Friday, June 9th for the Kindergarten End of Year Celebration and on Wednesday, June 14th for the 5th Grade Promotion Ceremony.

There is more exciting 5th grade news to report. My daughter, Naiya Pearce, was nominated by Darnestown Elementary to participate in "Are You up to the 5th Grade Challenge?" this past April. She was one of 27 kids to participate and was awarded a $500 grant by the MCPS Educational Foundation to go towards Darnestown Elementary. The game consists of one "celebrity" contestant and 4 teams of 5th graders. While an answer is read, the fifth grade teams deliberate and lock in their answer. The contestant is asked for his or her answer. The student's answers get revealed and the contestant can choose to change his or her answer. For each correct answer, the contestant will win money to be granted by the Foundation for highly impacted MCPS elementary schools. Please click on attached link if you want to watch the show! https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TpGIqx2eCLg Darnestown Elementary is in the second round.

The Spring Choral concert was the best I've seen so far! The theme was "BRAVE". Not only was there beautiful singing, but there was amazing acting by our 4th and 5th Graders. I'm pretty sure a few tears were shed. The Instrumental Music concert was equally entertaining.

Teachers were spoiled once again during Teacher Appreciation Week. The week started off with a myriad of flowers and thank you letters, and ended with a well-deserved catered Mexican feast and yummy desserts. Thank you to the wonderful, caring, hardworking teachers at Darnestown Elementary!

We had a larger than ever turnout at our annual DES Variety Show, held at Northwest High School. There was dancing, singing, glow in the dark acts and instrumental music to name a few. Darnestown certainly has talent!

Save the date for the DES Spring Picnic on Friday, June 9th. Pizza, shaved ice, bounce houses, DJ's and more. It is the perfect ending to a marvelous school year. The last day of school is Friday, June 16th. We wish everyone a safe and exciting summer!

On April 27, under direction from our music director, Cinzia Maddalena-Mattiace, Butler Montessori's Upper Elementary students performed Madagascar Jr. Every child had a part in the production. Experimenting with performing arts and theater helps students to put themselves in others' shoes and fosters a better understanding of realities different from their own. Performing arts is also a great means to improve cooperation and teamwork. To learn more about a Montessori education visit us at www.butlerschool.org.

Have you made your summer plans yet? There are still select openings at Butler Camp! Horseback riding, swimming, soccer, hiking trails, a ropes course, an archery range, and arts and crafts are all part of the fun on our campus. Some of our older campers travel off campus for canoeing, caving, fishing, mountain biking, rock climbing, whitewater rafting and tubing. Our younger campers enjoy the use of airconditioned classrooms for their "home base" during the camp day. Visit www.butlercamp.org for more information.

5th Grade Legacy Project, Exhibition and Graduation

The 2016-2017 school year is quickly coming to an end and preparations are underway to wish our graduating 5th graders farewell and good luck on their journeys to middle school. They have had a busy year as student leaders in the school. They have led our Safety Patrol team, spearheaded our recycling efforts, and helped plan school-wide assemblies, including taking the lead in our bilingual Cinco de Mayo Celebration. As part of our school tradition, the class has also been working on a Legacy Project that they will leave behind as a gift to the school community. This year, the students will be translating the International Baccalaureate "attributes" into the many foreign languages represented in our school community and then painting them on our front portico. As an IB school, our students practice from early on being "inquirers, knowledgeable, thinkers, communicators, principled, open-minded, caring, risktakers, balanced and reflective." These are not just words to them, but qualities that they have actively been developing in every aspect of their lives here at Seneca Academy. It feels very fitting that their legacy gift will serve as a reminder to all who enter through our front door of our mission to develop students who embody those traits and who will be, as a result, ready to thrive in a rapidly globalizing world. We are very much looking forward to seeing their final product!

Before they leave, our 5th graders will also have a chance to showcase and celebrate all that they have learned from the IB program in their capstone "Exhibition" projects. These projects are done in their last six-week transdisciplinary unit and take the form of a personal inquiry into a real-life issue that is particularly meaningful to them. With the help of their teacher and their faculty mentors, the students obtain background research, explore perspectives and offer solutions to these problems. In the process, they make use of all the "student" skills that they have developed over the years, as they organize their time, synthesize information, draw conclusions and prepare to communicate their findings to the entire school community. By the time they finish their final presentations, our students are ready to go confidently to middle school, knowing that they are fully prepared to meet all of the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead!

International Outdoor Classroom Day

In May, the entire Seneca Academy participated in "Outdoor Classroom Day"! This was an international effort to engage schools and children in focusing on the benefits of being outdoors and learning in and from nature. Although we are a National Wildlife Federation Certified Schoolyard Habitat and our students spend a great deal of time outdoors every day, knowing that we were a part of this worldwide effort and movement was pretty exciting! Our students planted gardens to attract butterflies and grow vegetables that they hope to harvest and enter in the Montgomery County Agricultural Fair. We also created outdoor seating to use year round using recycled tires. To cap off our exciting and enriching outdoor learning, we partnered with Calleva to do some outdoor team building activities. It was a great day and much fun was had by all!

Summer at Seneca

Seneca Academy invites all community members to join in the fun with our camp partners, Club SciKidz. ClubSciKidz is the premiere provider of science day camps in our area! They introduce students to the mysteries of science through hands-on, interactive make-and-take projects and experiments. If your child is interested in how things work, what things are made of and how science works in the real world, this is the perfect camp for them! A variety of programs are offered for children ages 3-15 and before and after care are available.

Small school. Big impact.

Seneca Academy's combination of intentionally small class sizes, inquiry-based, International Baccalaureate curriculum and affordability makes us a unique highvalue learning investment for forward thinking families.

We are now enrolling for 2017-2018 for the following programs:

- Parent's Day Out (1 day per week program for children who will be 2 by Sept. 1st. Potty training is not required.)
- Preschool Three's (2, 3, or 5 day options with before/after care available.)
- Pre-K Four's (4 or 5 morning options, as well as Extended Day class which is popular with older 4's/young 5's. Before/after care is available.)
- Kindergarten- 5th Grade (Limited openings.)

Tours are available, by appointment, through July. Please call 301-869-3728 to schedule!

Church News!

Darnestown Presbyterian Church

By Larry Ciolorito

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL! (June 26th - June 30th) Darnestown Presbyterian Church will hold its Vacation Bible School from June 26th – June 30th. VBS will be staged in the evening beginning at 5:30 pm daily with a family-style dinner. Our theme this year is the Maker Fun Factory, where kids become hands-on inventors who discover that they're lovingly crafted by God. Activities include Bible stories and songs, videos, outdoor games, and crafts.

VBS is a great fellowship opportunity with adults and youth working together to help guide the younger kids in an exploration of the Bible while doing crafts, games, and even science experiments. Children walk away not only singing Sunday-school songs they will remember for years to come, but also with a whole new understanding of what the church can mean to them and their families. Middle schoolers have their own activities, and high schoolers have opportunities to volunteer and interact with the children. An adult Bible study is also offered. You don't have to be a DPC member to participate! We welcome anyone from the community, and all children age 4 and up are welcome. We are thrilled to see new faces and are excited by the opportunity to introduce young children to God's gifts during this special week. If you have any questions or would like to assist, contact Melissa Mostrom please at melissamostrom@gmail.com

FAREWELL FOR PASTOR DAVE MCNEILLY!

DPC is holding a farewell luncheon and celebration for Pastor Dave McNeilly following the 11:00 AM service on the 28th of May, his last Sunday as our Pastor. #### INTERIM PASTOR

Our Interim Search Committee continues to seek an Interim Pastor to replace Dr. McNeilly until a permanent Pastor can be called. The Committee is working closely with the National Capital Presbytery through this process, and has now begun to interview candidates. We still hope to have our Interim Pastor in place by the beginning of June, and of course we still have our beloved Associate Pastor, Reverend Tamara Leonard-Lara, to help lead the church during this period.

SUMMER SCHEDULE STARTS JUNE 18th

Starting on June 18, our summer schedule will feature a single service at 9:30 AM, followed by a fellowship period over coffee, juice and light treats. We love to see visitors and first-time attendees- why not visit us this summer?

For information regarding upcoming events and our church in general, please visit our website at http://www.darnestownpc.org/ or friend us on Facebook. All those who seek God are welcome to our visitor and family-friendly services, and a nursery is available on Sunday mornings.

DEADLINE FOR THE NEXT LITTLE ACORN

August 1st, 2017

Deadlines will remain firm!

Please send articles to wsgooch@comcast.net

Every two years, the DCA publishes a community directory of residents' names, addresses and phone numbers, and mails the directory to every residential address in our database.

The most recent edition (2015) is currently available! To obtain a copy of the Directory, call Sarah Scherer at 240-683-8533 or email her at

sarahscherer@comcast.net

Directories are only available while supplies last.

Organizations, Clubs, Groups, PTAs, etc., provide much of the social interaction that give any area its sense of community.
